Preamble

Since putting out my 2025 art catalog, I have started a project I call “Light Up Nigeria” in which I am going to use a portion of each art sale (originals, Giclee Prints, and art greeting cards) to purchase solar powered lamps/battery chargers for artists in Nigeria who either lack access to electricity or other source of reliable power. A shocking percentage of Nigerians do not have even basic amenities that we take for granted.

These lamps are not ordinary lamps. They are made by a Nigerian company called Quadloop (<https://www.quadloop.africa/>), which creates its lamps with 70% recycled electronic waste. I have been working personally with the owner of the company, Dozie Igweilo (pictured here), and have purchased 16 lamps and solar panels so far with funds I received from prior sales of my books and art. Now, I want to buy even more so that more artists can continue making their incredible art, even after the sun goes down, and by doing so, giving them a chance at supporting themselves and their family.

The lamps cost $54.00 each, which includes the solar panel and a set of replacement batteries. I also pay shipping costs which average $18.00 per lamp. Of the lamps that have been delivered at the time of preparing this catalog, I have been told repeatedly that this amazing tool has transformed their lives. One artist called it “empowering” to be able to work at night, study, or do anything else during the constant and prolonged blackouts. These artists are from every region of Nigeria and have been brought together for the first time with a common goal in mind—to bring light to their country.

These are some of the young artists with the lamps they received in the last several weeks.

In the weeks that come, I will be offering prints of their work for sale on my website, with 100% of the net sale proceeds going directly to the artists.

In the near future, I hope to attend an art festival starring these artists, where they can show the world what they can accomplish if given a little hand up. My mother was born in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. My father served in the Peace Corps in Tanzania. I am drawn to Africa, to its beauty, its people, its customs and traditions, and to its art. I hope to make a small contribution to enhance the lives of these artists as they have enhanced mine.

The first section in this catalog contains original paintings, which are for sale. All are acrylic paintings, but some are on canvas and others are on wood panels. The price, size (exclusive of the frame, if any), painting surface, and whether it is framed or unframed is listed for each painting. Be sure to zoom in on the images to see the details. All paintings are now available for 30% off their original price.

The second section contains paintings that are available only in archival-quality Giclée prints. “Giclée” is the term used for fine art prints, like the ones sold in art galleries, using a specialized high-resolution printer. These fine art prints are printed on heavyweight, museum-grade, archival fine art watercolor paper and will last for generations if properly handled and displayed. Each print is numbered and signed by me. They are available in any size, but the standard size is 11” x 14”. The special 2026 Catalog price for an 11 x 14 inch print is only $100.00, a savings of 20% off the normal price. Larger sizes are available as well. For example, a 24” x 32” print is on sale for $225.00. All prints are unframed. You may also purchase Giclée prints of my paintings listed in the first section. Please contact me for specific pricing information if you are interested in purchasing a larger print.

Art greeting cards of all my paintings are also available for purchase. They are made with heavy cream-colored cardstock and are blank inside. They are perfect for every occasion or make a gorgeous gift when bundled together. I make and sign each card. If you would like to purchase greeting cards made with any of the images in this catalog, please contact me to make some up especially for you. Each card is $5.00 or $4.00 if you purchase 5 or more.

Prices do not include frame, unless otherwise noted.
